C. EEG University Registration

Environmental & Engineering Geophysical University (co-sponsored by the U.S. Department of Energy) "EEGU" consists of classroom-style sessions intended for non-geophysicists concurrent with the main technical sessions (Monday through Wednesday). Session topics include: What is Environmental and Engineering Geophysics and What Can It Do for You? (Monday), Geophysics for Water Resources and Contaminants (Tuesday), and Geophysics in Engineering, Transportation, Hazards, and UXO Investigations (Wednesday). Well-known and engaging instructors will present overviews of geophysical approaches to engineering and environmental problems to an intended audience of managers, regulators, environmental and engineering consultants, students, and educators. Registration is limited to non-presenting, first-time SAGEEP attendees and is first-come, first-served. Single- or multiple-day registrations are welcome. Includes Certificate of Completion and does not include admittance to SAGEEP technical sessions.
